

AETHERIA

Catalytic Calcium™

Quintessential Elements™

WWW.AETHERIA-ALCHEMICALS.COM

☐aetheria@aetheria-alchemicals.com

Why call it Catalytic Calcium™? How does Quintessential Gold™ work and Why?

How does Quintessential Gold work?

We are hypothesizing that the Zero Point Energy state of the Quintessential Elements™ is able to transfer into the energetic field of the body. This effect is accomplished either by resonance or a direct coupling with the cellular energy fields. Either way, the primary effect appears to be in the subtle energy currents (CHI) of the body that travel along the acupuncture meridians and flow through the chakra energy centers.

In Oriental Medicine, blockages in the flow of CHI are considered to be the cause of all disease. So an increased flow of CHI energy may result in increased health and longevity.

Another possible hypothesis for the feeling of increased energy is that the nano-mineral suspension of Quintessential Elements™ (Catalytic Calcium™) acts as a catalyst for energy transport to the cells.

It is also possible that a free energy generating system becomes entrained through the connection to Zero Point..

The bottom line is that we really have no specific scientific paradigm to explain the phenomena that we are observing through the dedicated clients, around the world, that have tried these products.

State-of -the-art physics is now just beginning to approach the point wherein the distinction between physics and metaphysics is becoming increasingly blurred. The measurements required to hypothesize accurately are outside the detection limits of the instruments.

Furthermore, it seems that the action of consciousness itself has a great deal to do with the observed effects. In other words, faith in whatever can affect the outcome of the testing.

Then speaking of consciousness, does everything in Nature have consciousness? Do some things carry a little more consciousness than others? How conscious are we?

Can we consider Quintessential Gold™ as a Gateway for energies that we can not fathom with our theories or instruments? Is there something in the crystalline structure of the compound that acts as a type of receiver for these undefined energies?

Does the interaction of the crystal and the signal create an entirely new energy domain wherein the physical and the non-physical are in an open connection?

STARGATE?